

11/1/2019

International Travel Support (ITS) in the field of East Asian Studies (2019/2020)

The Frieberg Center for East Asian Studies provides financial assistance for presenting a research paper, or chairing a session, or organizing panel in an international scientific event (conference/seminar/symposium/workshop etc) in the field of East Asian Studies (specifically, but not confined to Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Mongolian studies).

Eligibility: Doctoral students and post-docs of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. Advanced MA students are also encouraged to apply.

The support will be within the range of 500-1000 USD (in exceptional cases the sum of the support may be increased).

A researcher can be granted only one ITS grant a year.

Please submit your application to the Frieberg Center (eacenter@mail.huji.ac.il) with a copy to the center's chair, Prof. Michal Biran (biranm@mail.huji.ac.il). Please specify the follows:

1. Details of the conference (including when possible the official site of the event).
2. The title and abstract of your presentation/panel (no longer than one page).
3. Confirmation from the organizers that your presentation/panel had been accepted.
4. Details of expenses (including the invoice of the flight ticket, if relevant).
5. Explanation of the event's importance for the candidate's research advancement.
6. Your CV + list of publications (no longer than 3 pp.).
7. Details of other travel support grants (if any).

Candidates whose application had been approved should acknowledge the Frieberg Center support in any publication that may derive from the conference. A copy of the publication that derived from the Center's support (ideally an e-copy) will be submitted to the Frieberg Center.

Applications should be submitted until December 15, 2019 (for Fall 2019-Spring 2020 conferences) and until May 20, 2020 (for Summer-Fall 2020 conferences).

Good luck!

The Frieberg Center